

Traditional Chandeliers

The word “chandelier” originates from the Latin word “candelabrum”, a branched candle holder that is suspended from the ceiling. Today, of course, most chandeliers are electric light holders.

Originally, they were simply shaped, made out of wood or iron and were used in Anglo-Saxon churches even before the turn of the first millennium. Brass as a base material for chandeliers was first used in the late Middle Ages.

During the eighteenth century, Dutch and Flemish craftsmen became known for their brass chandelier design and manufacture. British companies were also important suppliers of chandeliers for early American churches or homes. The Dutch, Flemish and British started a tradition that is still being continued around the world today. Here at Holtkötter, that same tradition is being continued with particular care and attention to detail.

In the following section, we are proud to present the widest variety of traditional colonial chandeliers available today with respect to style, size and choice of finish.

Holtkötter 2000 Chandelier Collection

2312/6+6 Antique Brass

2318/12+6 Polished Brass

Wall Sconce No.	Finishes	Length	Width	Extension	Maximum Wattage
3233/2	AB, PB, Pewter	12	14	8	2x C. 60 W
3233/3	PB	12	15	9½	3x C. 60 W

Please see page 164 for photos of these wall sconces.

Fixture No.	Finishes	Body Length	Width	Maximum Wattage
2206/6	Pewter	20	22	6x C. 60 W
2006/6	AB, PB, Pewter	20	26	6x C. 60 W
2008/8	AB, PB, Pewter	20	32	8x C. 60 W
2012/8+4	AB, PB, Pewter	24	32	12x C. 60 W
2018/12+6	PB	24	36	18x C. 60 W
2212/6+6	PB	24	26	12x C. 60 W
2312/6+6	AB, Pewter	27	26	12x C. 60 W
2318/12+6	PB	27	36	18x C. 60 W
2006/6+6+6	PB	30	26	18x C. 60 W
2020/12+6+4	AB, PB, Pewter	40	40	22x C. 60 W

Optional Accessories (sold separately):

- Candle Snuffers
- Clip-on Shades (Black/Gold-foil lined, Linen, Mushroom)
- Drip candle covers (antique or off-white)
- Glass cups (please specify "GC" when ordering glass cups)
- Glass for GC fixtures (small or large Monterrey, small or large English Colonial)

This is a versatile Colonial series in a classic Dutch design. This collection has unlimited use for residential, commercial and church applications.

Ring finial available upon request.

Bulbs not included.

Facing page: 2008/8 Pewter with optional off-white drip candle covers & ring finial (top)
2006/6 AB with optional antique drip candle covers (middle)
2012/8+4 PB with optional off-white drip candle covers (bottom)

